PUBLIC HEALTH NEWS SUMMARY

Berdsk, Novosibirsk Oblast--A nurses' school which opened here in 1945 graduated its first nurses in 1947. Today the school is deserted and neither the Berdsk Municipal Council nor the Novosibirsk Oblast Public Health Administration takes notice of its existence. The school needs a new building, but nothing is being done to continue this very vital educational program.--P. Coryachkin.

Sochi--Lately paradentosis has attacked people between the ages of 25 to 30, but facilities for proper control of this disease are limited and only about 4 to 5 percent are ever cured. The region does not have enough dentists to permit the personal and constant attention necessary.--P. Soldatova.

Stalinabad.—Ten years ago the foundations were laid for the Stalinabad Medical Institute. Today not one of the buildings has yet been completed. Recently, when 'he Ministry of Public Health, Tadchik SSR, and the new directors of the Institute decided to complete the buildings, they found that the plans had been lost. The Architectural Section, Ministry of Public Health, Tadzhik SSR, is unwilling to draw duplicate plans for such a large project, and is waiting for advice from the Central Ministry of Public Health USSR. In the meantime this project, which so far has cost several million rubles, is lying idle, and unless something is done there are prospects that it will remain uncompleted for another 10 years.—G.

Riga.-Riga, has 15 scientific establishments which are training hundreds of doctors and specialists. The majority of these enterprises are performing satisfactorily but a minority are not. The Society of Therapists has so far graduated only 50 of the 200 specialists who should have graduated in the last 2 years. No members of chairs or faculties of medical institutes attend any of the infrequent meetings which this Society holds; it is inactive in all training programs and Docent Loffe, it's secretary, has not attended may as ting for the past & months.---. Mardkovich, Col, Med Sy.
